October 24, 2011

Our teachers were working hard over break desegregating data and planning for the return of their scholars.

QUARTER TWO HAS ARRIVED!

The kids may have been the only ones resting over Fall Break. Our teachers spent a portion of their break attending a seminar and planning for quarter two. They have compiled all of their data and researched the appropriate strategies to meet the needs of their students. Acuity testing for grades 3-7 begins this week, so please assist us in making sure all scholars arrive on time and attend daily. We are confident that quarter two will be as successful if not more so as quarter one.

Parent / Teacher Conferences

STUDENT LED!

Our scholars did a phenomenal job leading their conferences this quarter. Parents should have left with an understanding of their child's progress thus far as well as areas of needed development.

Please be reminded that it is a requirement that all parents who have students enrolled in ILCS attend the quarterly Parent/Teacher Conferences. At this time, only 75% of our parents have met with their child's teacher. Again, these conferences are mandatory for all students enrolled. Report cards will NOT be sent home.

Teachers will be reaching out to all parents who are still in need of a conference.

STUDENT SERVICES

Due to changes within the DOE, some information regarding student services is not automatically available to schools. If your child has received services in the past that you feel are not being addressed at ILCS, please notify our Director of Exceptional Children, Travis Campbell.

PICK UP AND DROP OFF

Parents, we need your help. Our staff members are being subjected to unfair treatment in an effort to ensure the safe transition of our students.

In the morning, staff members are now expected to park in the front row of spaces, while cones have been strategically placed to encourage the flow of traffic around the perimeter of our lot. This will allow for our CPA and visiting parents to safely cross the parking lot into the building.

We CANNOT allow for parents to hold up traffic and park in front of the building at any time. The flow of traffic must keep moving in order to get our scholars into the building on time.

At dismissal, we must continue to have our parents enter from Raymond and make a left into the parking lot. You are then to circle around the perimeter of the lot and exit right and head south on Sloan back toward Raymond St.

You will not be permitted to turn in front of the buses. Again, this is to ensure the safe transition of our students. Your continued compliance is appreciated.
