Parent Newsletter February 2017

Have you ever wondered how you can help your scholar at home? Here are some ideas:

Read every night with your scholar. You can read, your scholar can read, or you can take turns.

Play board games. Family game night can help with math, problem-solving, and social skills.

Go over and help correct any work that comes home from school. While this may not improve the grade on that paper, an understanding of the skill will help in the future.

Plan for travel. Even if you are planning "pretend trips", it can help with research skills, communication skills, and show your child the wonders of the world in which we live.

Thank you for your help in reducing the tardies at JLCS. While tardies are decreasing each day, we still have room for improvement. School starts at 7:45. If your child arrives after 7:45, he/she is tardy. You will need to park and come into the school to sign in your child. If there is no one on duty, then you know to walk your scholar inside. Ms. Smith and Ms. Rankin will be monitoring this in the coming days, so please arrive on time with your child. Thanks in advance for your help.

Congratulations to our scholars that have already made their spring NWEA goal!!

Congratulations to the boys and girls who participated in the Arkansas Math Tournament at Lisa Academy on Saturday, January 28, 2017. We appreciate the positive way they represented our school! Big thanks to Mr. Kloske for preparing our scholars for this experience!
